DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-6, 9-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Ono et al (US 5,045,971).

Ono et al disclose an EMC shield (101, 107) comprising a first side having a plurality of openings (Fig. 19), second side having a bottom edge with a groove to receive a conductive gasket (102, 108), a circuit board (103)(Fig 20)(re claims 1, 5, 11, 15, 19)

Re claims 2, 12, see Fig 19.

Re claims 3, 4 13, 14, a plurality of fins (107g)

Re claims 6, 16, electronics modules (col. 1, lines 40-50)

Re claims 9, 17, an opening to receive a fastener (screws)(Fig 19)

Re claims 10, 18 see abstract

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 7, 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ono et al.

The teaching as discussed above does not disclose an electronic module comprises an optic module or a laser transmitter and laser receiver.

It is well known in the electrical art to use an optic module or a laser transmitter and laser receiver in a device housing. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use the optic module or the laser transmitter and laser receiver for the housing of Ono et al for intended purpose.
